Area residents met with Rep. Ben Ray Luján on Tuesday at his office in Tucumcari to speak about their concerns and issues that affect the area.

"I am doing my best to reach out to the communities," Lujan said. "I want to be available to my constituents. Holding office hours gives people a chance to come in and speak with me."

Lujan said traveling to an office in Santa Fe or Washington, D.C., is not an option many of his constituents have.

"I try to travel to each of my offices across the state," Lujan said. "It is all about addressing the public and their concerns."

Lujan represents New Mexico's 3rd Congressional District, which includes Quay, Curry, Roosevelt, Harding, Union and San Miquel counties.

Members of city, hospital and county agencies met with Lujan.
